

TWO ATTEMPTS MADE TO BLOW UP STREET CARS

Dynamite Fixed in "Slot" on Vestry Street Line Fails to Explode.

SECOND IN FOUR DAYS

Damaging of Car With Explosives
Last Week Kept Secret
by Company.

Dynamite is being used in the car strike. Early to-day Inspector Owen Egan of the Bureau of Combustibles examined two sticks left in the car tracks in front of No. 3 Vestry Street, just off Canal, and said they were 40 per cent dynamite, and had two percussion caps each.

He also made known for the first time that a Chambers Street storage battery car was damaged by dynamite last Thursday night. The car was reported to have been damaged by a "blow-out." Inspector Egan made an investigation and found two wheels had been blown off the car, every window broken, and windows blown out on both sides of the street. The car was on its way to the barn and carried no passengers. The explosion occurred in front of No. 460 Cherry Street.

The two sticks of dynamite placed on the Vestry Street track, over which the Grand and Canal Street lines run, were discovered late last night by Police William Lau of the MacDougal Street Station. He heard two explosions and ran to the spot after a car had passed without stopping.

The dynamite, without a covering of any kind, was near the middle of the track, where the "plough" is passing through the slot without striking. Two sticks had been cut in each slot for the fuming caps that were to set off the explosive. The two caps in one stick were still in place. The two in the other had been dislodged from the dynamite and rolled under the wheels, which exploded them. It was these the police heard. Had the dynamite exploded it would have blown the car in pieces, with possible loss of life not only of passengers but of others in the street.

As soon as Inspector Egan made his report the Bomb Squad was hastily routed out of bed and set to work on the case.

A stone thrown through the window of a Third Avenue elevated train near One Hundred and Fourth Street at 1:30 A. M. struck on the head of Thomas Klingworth, thirty-eight, No. 204 Madison Avenue. Flying glass cut Maurice Tumberg, No. 46 Ridge Street. Both were treated by a Harlem Hospital ambulance surgeon.

Five striking car men were before Magistrate McGuire to-day in the Morrisania Court. Three were sent to the workhouse and two were held for examination.

John Cullen, motorman, No. 197 East One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Street, pleaded guilty to stopping a car and was sent to the workhouse for ten days. Arthur West, conductor, No. 302 East One Hundred and Eighty-ninth Street, denied throwing stones, but admitted he was on duty where Oberlin saw him. He was sent to the Island for thirty days. Michael Dunigan, motorman, No. 505 East One Hundred and Fortieth Street, also not guilty.

John Stricker of No. 293 East Fifty-second Street, a guard on the Third Avenue elevated, swore Michael Macomber, a striking guard of No. 232 East One Hundred and Thirty-eighth Street, and Michael Whelan, a switchman of No. 384 East One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street, beat him because he refused to leave his train. They denied the charge, but were held in $500 bail until Thursday.

John A. Moffitt and James H. Smyth, the Federal mediators who settled the old street car strike, began to-day a preliminary investigation into the street car strike here. They will go into both sides of the question.

Organizer Fitzgerald expects the mediators to make an investigation of the financial affairs of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, the New York City Railways Company and the Third Avenue Railway Company. He believes this investigation will show the corporations have planned to make the city pay the extra cost of the strike.

Stabbed for Aiming Night-of-Way. Matteo Trullio, No. 63 Thompson Street, was wheeling a barrel of apples along the sidewalk to-day when a swarthy youth stood in his way. Matteo asked him to step aside. The youth stabbed him in the abdomen and ran away. Matteo is in St. Vincent's Hospital in a serious condition.

THE KING OF TABLE WATERS

Bronx Women Will Make "Peace President March" Greatest of Parades

So Many Requests for Positions in Line Come
From Manhattan, Brooklyn and New Jersey
Cities They Are Compelled to Open More
Enrollment Quarters—Issue Stirring Appeal for Woodrow Wilson, Who Is Saving Husbands and Sons by Keeping Us Out of War.

By Nixola Greeley-Smith.

The mothers, wives and sisters of the Bronx have issued an appeal to the women of Greater New York to join with them in their march for the "Peace President—Woodrow Wilson"—on the afternoon of Saturday, Nov. 4.

"I have received so many letters from women in Manhattan, Brooklyn and even from Newark and other cities in New Jersey," Mrs. Joseph I. Berry told me yesterday, "that it seems best to extend our parade to include all women who wish to testify to their approval of the peace President. Many mothers of young men now at the border have written me, saying that they wish to take part in the parade in thanksgiving for the President's successful efforts to keep the country out of war."

Mrs. Berry, who is Chairman of the Bronx Women's Wilson-Marshall League, will go to Shadow Lawn on Tuesday to see President Wilson by appointment.

"My appointment with the President is about another matter—about a pardon," Mrs. Berry said, "but I shall take advantage of the opportunity to tell Mr. Wilson that the women of New York City are with him heart and soul."

Enrollment of mothers, daughters, sisters and wives who will take part in the Peace March is now going on at the headquarters of the Women's Wilson-Marshall League at No. 1511 Washington Avenue, and at branch offices established in vacant stores at Fordham Square, at One Hundred and Forty-ninth Street and Third Avenue, at Southern Boulevard and One Hundred and Sixty-third Street, at No. 800 Tremont Avenue, and in the Bergen Building at Tremont and Arthur Avenues. Final plans for the parade will be agreed upon this (Monday) afternoon at a meeting of mothers to be held in the Bergen Building at 2:30 o'clock.

WOMAN'S APPEAL FOR THE PEACE PRESIDENT.

The appeal of the women of the Bronx to the women of the greater city follows:

"We all women who love peace to march with us for Woodrow Wilson on Nov. 4.

"Woodrow Wilson has saved our sons from war, our daughters from the breakdown and desolation which follow war.

"Woodrow Wilson will live forever in the history of this country as the Peace President. He has protected women and children from the consequences of the savage concept that the final unanswerable argument is—to kill.

"Women know that it is much easier to fight than to reason. They have brought up too many little boys to be in any doubt about that. They know too that wherever the blow prevails over justice and right, women and children are the first victims; that the sword knows no sister, no mother, no child.

"Women know that the ideal of democracy was born in the mother heart. Even under the Roman law, when the man was lord of life and death over his household, a little democracy grew up and flourished beneath that despotism, a democracy composed of the mother and her children, in which the woman protected the weak or crippled child from his stronger brothers and sisters. We think that from the mother-impulse to protect the weak the greatest intellectual ideal of the human race has flowered, the ideal of liberty, equality and fraternity, the ideal of government by all the people for all the people, the ideal of Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson.

WOMEN THINK LIFE MORE IMPORTANT THAN PROPERTY.

"As women we believe that the rights of people are superior to the rights of property. Men make money, but women make men. So we are more interested in the President who protects life than in the President who will look after the interests of Big Business.

"Motherhood is our BIG BUSINESS. Woodrow Wilson has protected us in it. He has proved that the dream women have dreamed since the first mother-arms was outstretched to guard the feeblest child—the dream of peace based upon right rather than might—is a reality in America.

"Many of the mothers of the Bronx Women's Wilson-Marshall League are of German descent and German sympathies. And we believe that President Wilson proved himself as much the friend of Germany as of this country when he kept the two nations out of war.

"Many of us are women who have never before taken any interest in politics. During other campaigns we have listened while our fathers or husbands and brothers discussed protection or sound money and we may have thought that these things did not matter particularly, and that it was just as well to let our men sit around and discuss them and pass judgment upon them. But when it comes to an issue of peace or war for this country, an issue of life and death, we are interested; we are aroused. For that is something upon which women may be said to have an expert opinion. For we are the makers and moulders

HEFTY MARINER RULES HIS HOUSE, DECLARES BEERS

Objects to "New Fangled Ideas" That Permit Another to Usurp His Place.

In opposing his wife's plea for alimony, Frederic Beers, who works at No. 104 Park Avenue, to-day told Justice Cohan that he was too much of an old-fashioned husband to consent to any of "these new-fangled twentieth century ideas," by which a husband loses his independence.

The new fangled idea, Beers declared, is the presence in his home of Capt. Jack Ladd, a mariner, who, it is alleged, has usurped Beers' place in the household, is now boss and who, through his superior physical strength, compels Beers to live in the same house while the doughty skipper lavishes affections upon Mrs. Helen Beers.

"I love my wife dearly and always will, and want to forgive her," Beers told the court, "but my functions in my own home consist of my bringing home my wages every week, turning them over to my wife, getting a bed to sleep in and something to eat when my wife isn't busy showering attentions on this unwelcome third party in our house, Capt. Ladd."

Beers does not make as much money as the Captain, he explained, and when Mrs. Beers asked for new gowns and amusements he couldn't afford them. Mrs. Beers then disappeared from home for several months, he alleges. When she returned she brought the Captain with her.

"The Captain was too powerful a man for me to oppose," Beers told Justice Cohan, and I obeyed his orders. At night he would take my wife out and they'd stay late. When I dared ask for an explanation she said it was perfectly proper for a young wife whose husband was not making much money to accept the attentions and gifts of another man.

"I looked at her hand and saw a new wedding ring. She took it off and showed it to me. It bore this inscription: 'From Jack to Nellie.' I asked her what had happened to my wedding ring. She said she had pawned it."

"Then I saw photographs of her and the Captain taken together in their bathing suits, and neighbors told me she was quite well known as Mrs. Jack Ladd. I just naturally quit the house when I saw I had no chance.

"In spite of all that," Beers declared, "I will take back my wife providing she will give up the Captain and redeem her pawned marriage ring."

Mrs. Beers is asking for a separation and $10 a week alimony, told the justice that even if she were as modern as her husband pretends she is, he would not have been a man to sanction the presence of Capt. Ladd, "even though the Captain is good enough to whip her husband."

She denied charges of misconduct. Justice Cohan gave her $4 a week alimony until the suit is tried.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Disposing of a $500,000 estate, William H. Beck, in his will, filed to-day, provided $1,500 to enable three friends from distant points to attend his funeral.

"I wish no more than a single flower from any single person," he wrote. "No music and no religious service other than that of the G. A. R., but I do wish that any of my friends who have anything to say will be allowed to do so, as I prefer this to the perfunctory sermons by clergymen."

WOMAN KILLED IN ELEVATOR.

Crushed Between Car and Floor as She Was Alighting.

Miss Louise Hestigar, forty years old, a seamstress of No. 48 West One Hundred and Thirty-ninth Street, was caught in an elevator when it descended to the second floor, and was crushed to death. The dead woman had been employed by the Larrons on the sixth floor and was returning from lunch. The elevator, her Vincent Zarona, says that the car suddenly jumped up as Miss Hestigar was getting out of the sixth floor and that she lost control of it and she was caught between the floor and the top of the door.

OPERASINGER WHO SAYS WAR ADDS TO CHARM OF GERMAN WOMEN

FRIEDA HEMPEL, OPERASINGER.

GERMAN WOMEN GROW THINNER IN THE WAR

Enforced Diet Gives Them a Much
Improved Appearance, Says
Mme. Frieda Hempel.

German housewives, deprived of war-time rigors of fattening foods, are becoming thin and elegant, according to Mme. Frieda Hempel, the singer, just back on the liner Bergensfjord from a holiday in Switzerland. She declared the German women much improved in appearance by the virtue of enforced dieting.

Mme. Hempel brought a number of war-time stories, among them one to the effect that it took her father an entire day getting the necessary wool cards to authorize him to buy a pair of trousers.

"One has to have cards," she said, "for everything."

Declaring herself a good German and predicting that the allies would never get through, Mme. Hempel asserted it would be entirely satisfactory to both sides if President Wilson would undertake mediation.

SILENT BACKER CURIOUS ABOUT FIRM'S PAYROLL

T. F. Ryan's Son, Suing for $70,000,
Wants to Know Why Manager's Wife Gets More Than Husband.

Allan A. Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan, who is trying to recover $70,000 he put up as the silent backer of the firm of David E. Kennedy, Inc., to-day asked Supreme Court Justice Cohan to compel the Kennedys—David E. and his wife, Claire—to explain how it was that Mrs. Kennedy, the vice president, received three times as much salary as her husband, the manager, and $1,000 a month bonus.

Counsel for the Kennedys asked to have the issues in the suit framed for a jury's consideration so that he and his wife would know where they had neglected to perform their duties, as Ryan alleges.

"Mrs. Kennedy did nothing for the pay she got," said Ryan's attorney. "It was merely a method by which the couple were trying to reduce the treasury surplus which even now amounts to $160,000."

The corporation, of which Ryan owns 48 per cent, is engaged in putting down cork tiled floors.

PRISONER WHO ADMITS CRIME WILL TESTIFY AGAINST OTHERS.

Robert E. Caswell, an adjuster for the Globe Indemnity Company, No. 42 William Street, one of the three employees of that company who have been indicted on charges of swindling the concern out of nearly $60,000 during the past year through fake automobile insurance policies, to-day pleaded guilty before Judge Roosevelt in court of session, to grand larceny. At the request of Assistant District Attorney Royal H. Weller, Caswell was released in $2,000 bail pending sentence.

Mr. Weller told the judge that Caswell had made a clear statement of his connection with the alleged fraud and was to appear before the Grand Jury on Wednesday next. He said that the company's employees of the indemnity company, who had been indicted, now under way is finished.

"PROPHETESS" ARRESTED.

Her Inspiration About Detective's
Dead Uncle Was All Wrong.

Mrs. Esther Suss, who said herself "an inspiration," prophesied, to-day put under $500 bonds to keep the peace for a year in the West side Court. The lady prophet was handing out inspirations at No. 42 West Sixty-fourth Street at one dollar a pop. Detective Adole Price got an inspiration yesterday from Headquarters to visit the seeress. She paid her dollar, was blindfolded and had a handkerchief placed over her wedding ring. Light appeared. Then a light, waddy light appeared. The prophetess told her that it was her dead uncle, who was now her guide. It was a poor inspiration. The detective hadn't any dead uncle. So the prophetess was arrested.

ROOSEVELT MAKES FIERCE ATTACK ON WAR SEC'Y BAKER

Declares Comparison of Mexicans With Washington's Army of Patriots a Slander.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 21.—Col. Roosevelt spent five hours here to-day as a break in his flying trip. He made a violent attack on Secretary of War Baker for the Secretary's alleged comparison of the Mexican guerrillas with the troops of Washington.

He said: "When Baker was appointed to the position of Secretary of War the newspapers reported him as saying that he knew nothing about the army, that he was a pacifist and that even when a boy his principles had been such that he never played with tin soldiers."

"These artless attributes, and especially Mr. Baker's admitted ignorance of the job, appeared strongly to Mr. Wilson's own ignorance of all militia matters."

"Baker certainly understands nothing of efficiency in war, and it is now apparent that he regards all wars as standing on the same level of infamy and all soldiers as equally despicable. Among his recent exploits was an elaborate comparison of Washington and his followers and soldiers in the Revolutionary War with Carranza and the other bandits who are responsible for the present wretched Sab bath in Mexico."

"The New York Tribune made a stenographic report of the speech of Mr. Baker at Jersey City on Oct. 16. The speech runs in part:

"We had a revolution and from the beginning to the end the conditions in this country were so like Mexico that it is perfectly astounding to read. Washington's army was in rage, and they stole the silver vessels from the churches and melted them to buy things to eat. They drove ministers of the Gospel out of the churches. The President is in favor of letting the fourteen million people in Mexico fight out their independence the way we fought out ours."

"Wherever you hear anybody say they cannot understand the President's Mexican policy, tell them to go read the Declaration of Independence and the Golden Rule."

"The final touch about the golden rule," said the Colonel, "applied in comparing men who rape women, murder children and torture wounded soldiers to the signers of the Declaration of Independence and the singularly humane soldiers of Washington, adds an element of nauseous hypocrisy to as preposterous and ridiculous slander as ever was circulated about the men of the Revolution. I have no doubt whatever that, in this astounding statement, Mr. Baker gives Mr. Wilson's real views, exactly as Mr. Lansing, in his famous note of June last, incautiously told the exact truth about the acts of Carranza and the Mexican bandits generally."

"Mr. Wilson's attitude toward Carranza cannot possibly be justified except on the theory that at the bottom of his heart he looks upon all soldiers as equally bad."

"Of course, from the standpoint of patriotism, from the standpoint of an American citizen proud of his country and his army, it is profoundly unpatriotic, profoundly dishonorable, it is indeed almost to desertion, to compare Washington's army, to compare Valley Forge, who sacrificed everything for their country, with the band of bloodthirsty bandits who invaded Mexico and whom the President has been backing and supporting in their murders and outrages for the last three and a half years in Mexico."

"The man who professed such doctrines is wholly unfit to stay in the cabinet, and the President who retains him is equally unfit to remain the President of the United States. It is a foul slander of the men who made the nation."

The charges for the tying up of the Colonel's train at Gallup, N. M., yesterday became known to-day. The Roosevelt special was supposed to stop less than five minutes, but it was held up for twenty-five minutes, some one had turned a screw which kept the brakes tight until every brake was examined and the trouble diagnosed. Railroad officials have started an investigation.

DIogenes, HERE'S THE MAN YOU ARE LOOKING FOR

He Is One Among Twenty Fined for Smoking in Their Factories.

Twenty shirt and garment workers had been arraigned in the Municipal Court, charged with smoking in factories in violation of the State Labor Law. Each was fined $20, with an alternative of two days in jail. Some admitted they had cigars or cigarettes in their possession, but each denied he was smoking.

"Is it possible that there isn't an honest man among you?" asked Magistrate Appleton. "If there is, it would refresh me to meet one."

Up stepped Samuel Salowsky of No. 365 Manhattan Avenue, who had not been arraigned.

"It is true, I was smoking," confessed Salowsky. "Why should I lie about it when the inspector caught me with the goods?"

Honest Samuel satisfied the law by remaining a prisoner in the courtroom until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

"This is the end of a perfect day," said he.

GIRL FALLS TO DEATH FROM "L" PLATFORM

Taxicab Almost Runs Over Stenographer as She Drops in Front of Machine.

Mary Finnegan, a stenographer, sixteen years old, of No. 528 West One Hundred and Forty-fifth Street, fell this morning from the south-bound local platform of the elevated station at Eighth Avenue and One Hundred and Forty-fifth Street, fractured her skull and died an hour later in Harlem Hospital.

She could not have fallen directly between the tracks, as there are boards there to make a walkway, and the police believe she rolled under the platform, whence there is a sheer drop of eighteen feet to the street.

The only witness of the fall the police have been able to find was Daniel Sullivan, of No. 224 West One Hundred and Forty-fifth Street, whose taxicab almost ran over the girl when she dropped in front of the machine. He and a policeman placed her in the cab and took her to the hospital.

The conversion suits were brought against W. & J. Sloane and John Vannanmaker by Mrs. Shubert to gain possession of Oriental rugs and trunks and a brace which she claimed were her property. The disposition of these belongings was not set forth in the papers.

They drove as far as Hackettstown and spent the afternoon and evening in that section. They were on their way back and passing through this city when the car grazed a tree. Miss Downey was sitting on the rear seat on the right side and it is thought that her head hit the tree. The car kept on near the sidewalk and ran over two wooden gutter bridges. At the second one the front wheel collapsed letting the front of the auto drop to the roadway. Miss Downey was rushed to the hospital where it was found she was dead. She was eighteen years old and the others are about twenty. The men are perhaps a few years older.
